SOLD

This large two-bedroom duplex unfolds over the top two floors of a charming Grade II-listed building built in c1774. Located on the coveted Highbury Place, the home rolls onto Highbury Fields and has ardent leafy views to the front and far-reaching city-scape views from its rooftop terrace at the rear. Thoughtfully reimagined under the current ownership, the apartment celebrates its Georgian past, while creating comfortable spaces suitable for contemporary living.

Setting the Scene

One of Islington's finest addresses, Highbury Place is distinguished by rows of highly desirable Georgian and Victorian townhouses overlooking Highbury Fields, the largest open space in the borough. Originally, the row was a development of 39 houses built by John Spiller during the period between 1774 to 1779.

Characterised by its leafy meandering walks, distinguished architecture and village atmosphere, over the years, the area has been home to many prominent figures. Now a conservation area, Highbury is celebrated for its historic integrity and rich past, with residents like Walter Sickert (of No. 1 Highbury Place). He is recognised as one of the most influential artists of the 20th century and a prominent figure in the transition from Impressionism to Modernism. For more information, please see the History section below.

The Grand Tour

The apartment is situated on the top two floors of a brick and stucco Georgian townhouse. Entrance is via a spacious turned staircase, with a beautiful stained-glass arched window casting light over the main landing.

Accessed via a spiral staircase, the living/kitchen/dining area has been finished in a palette of calming tones by Farrow & Ball. It is bathed in light from twin skylights and dual-aspect windows with far-reaching views over both Highbury fields and the surrounding cityscape. A later Victorian fireplace has been added as a focal point for the room, and a large contemporary kitchen, with stone worktops, sits adjacent to the spacious terrace area. There is room for a dining table and chairs making it the perfect space for entertaining.

At the front of the plan, on the lower floor, sits the main bedroom, with views over bucolic Highbury Fields (new windows have been installed throughout). The space has been finished in Farrow & Ball 'Stiffkey Blue' and has built-in wardrobes and a spacious en suite bathroom. Adjacent sits a large second bedroom, with original floorboards and a large picture window. On this floor, there is an abundance of fitted storage space for life's necessities.

A main bathroom has been finished in pretty blue and white tiles and has a matching rolltop bathtub.

The Great Outdoors

A large outdoor terrace provides an ardent oasis in Highbury's central location and offers extensive views over the chimney pots of neighbouring houses and beyond. Perfect for morning coffee or alfresco dining, the space allows light to flood into the surrounding rooms. There is room for planters and a small table and chairs.
